A GOOD LIVE TOWN

Last week the Harlan American printed a road special—nearly fifty pages in the edition, including a photograph section that would compare favorably with that section in a city paper of a half a million people.

It was, and special editions are not new to us, what one would call a tip top example of a paper of that character. The news matter was present, also the illustrations and the edition was amply backed by the merchants of Harlan.

Those papers went out by the hundreds and thousands advertising Harlan. It wasn't necessary for the American to say that Harlan was a good enterprising city—the edition spoke for itself—it would not have been there if Harlan were not a good town.

Now this edition was staged when the election hung in the balance. The Harlan merchants didn't know whether Silent Cal, Good Looking John or Mercutrial Hob was to be the president of the U. S. A. But they went right ahead with the slogan "Business as Usual" and behold the triumph in newspaper making, and town advertising.

Congratulations are in order extending all the way from men who worked it up and published it to the merchants and business men who backed it. It is a milestone in Harlan's history and may the town get the roads and the publicity they go after in such a thorough manner.

Did You Ever Stop to Think

By E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

THAT it takes REAL CITIZENS to build a real city.

THAT REAL CITIZENS constantly think of ways to serve the home community to the full limit of their ability and opportunities.

THAT REAL CITIZENS are possessed of abundant energy, tireless industry and unfeeling courtesy. They put into the work of city building the same concentration and active interest they put into their own business.

THAT RETAIL CITIZENS are possessed of abundant energy. They always work with a real and unselfish devotion to their home city. They don't lose time dreaming of short cuts to riches and prominence.

THAT REAL CITIZENS know that those who do things best will have abundant compensation for their efforts to do well what ever is necessary to make the home city better brighter and busier.

THAT REAL CITIZENS believe in building for the present and future generation, a city which will be characterized by comfort and prosperity, whose ideals will be good citizenship, unity, equality and progress, a city wherein every citizen shall find his fullest measure of opportunity.

REAL CITIZENS BUILD REAL CITIES.

LESSON NO. 2

THE PROPER USE OF LIGHT HOW WE SEE

Objects are seen by the light that falls upon them and is reflected to our eyes. A duck object reflects but little of the light that falls upon it—perhaps less than one-fourth; a light colored object reflects a large part of the light—perhaps three-quarters.

If we are to see objects, the light must fall upon them and be reflected from them. The more darkly they are colored, the more light is needed to enable us to see them. The light that falls on objects which we wish to see may be termed useful light. Most electric lamp bulbs when used without shades or reflectors throw out light in all directions—just as much to the ceiling and walls of a room as down to the table top. Well designed shades are made so that they not only soften the light, but also reflect some light that would otherwise be wasted and direct it downward and outward to the objects that we wish to see.

GLOOM

Proper lighting requires two things: First, that there be enough light so that the eye can see quickly and easily; and second, that this light be shaded and so placed in the room that the eye is not strained by glare. Many homes have soft, shaded light that is too dim for good vision; others have enough light but harmful glare is a part of it; too few homes have plenty of light without glare, which is necessary for proper lighting and the protection of eyesight.

The eye is truly a wonderful organ. Because it does not always immediately complain, we often make it work under great difficulty, and strain it.

Have you ever stopped reading because of a feeling of discomfort? You have a headache without any reason for it that you can think of, or your eyes feel tired, or you find that you cannot fix your attention on your book or paper. You may find later that these are signs you were straining your eyes.

We can see under a dim light, but we can see more easily and more quickly if we have more light. When we live day after day with too little light, we are likely to find that our eyesight is affected, and that we may need glasses. Then we know we have strained our eyes until they cannot do their work without help.

DECORATE WITH LIGHT

Up to this point we have thought of lighting only as it helps us to see easily—in other words, as it is useful. Of course, this is very important in every room in the home, and everywhere else. But when the light our home, we want the lighting to make each room pleasant and attractive, and our lighting, except for the work rooms (the kitchen, the laundry, the basement and attic), should be as much of a decoration or ornament as the pictures and rugs and curtains.

Lighting equipment may be ornamental and decorative, and at the same time it can be made in such a way that it will properly light the room. Much of the lighting equipment in use today can be greatly improved by using shades that are longer, so that the bulb is completely hidden from the eye and denser, so that no extremely bright spot appears in the center of them.

A FEW CAUTIONS

Here are a few cautions that will help you protect your eyes:

Don't judge the amount of light in a room by the brightness of the bare, unshaded bulbs. That is the indication of glare.

Don't expose your eyes to unshaded lights. That may cause eye-strain.

Don't read while facing a bright light or a sunny window. Have the light come from beside you or over your shoulder.

Don't use bright lights against a dark background.

Don't try to read in a dim light that tires your eyes.

Don't let your lighting equipment get dirty. Clean it regularly. Dust and dirt may cause you to lose as much as one-half or even three-fifths of the light that the bulbs produce and that you are paying for.

Don't depend on faking out light bulbs to connect appliances and portable lamps. Have convenience outlets put in for this purpose.

Don't be indifferent to the preservation of your eyesight.

CIRCUIT COURT NEWS

CORBIN, Ky., Nov. 10.—The Whitley Circuit Court adjourned Friday after being in session for the past seven weeks. It was concluded by all who had occasion to observe the proceedings that this term was one of the most strenuous and successful terms of the court ever held. So far as is known, there has been only one term of the court in which there were as many felony convictions, which were two years ago. There were twenty-two felony convictions at that time, being exactly the same number of penitentiary sentences at this term. Trials and convictions for misdemeanors at this term were also unprecedented.

COURT NO WIN SESSION

PARIS, Ky., Nov. 10.—The Bourben circuit court will meet for its three weeks November term this morning. Circuit Judge Ben G. Williams, presiding. Miss Mary Keating, deputy circuit clerk, will be assisted during the first few days by Kelly Smith, of the Franklin circuit court, on account of the illness of William H. Webb. The court docket consists of 27 commonwealth cases, 21 equity appearances, 12 ordinary appearances, 210 old equity and 128 old ordinary cases.

MAKES GIFT TO COLLEGE

PINEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 10.—Freshman and sophomores of Middlesboro and surrounding territory drawn by John P. Wilson, of 478½, by John Barker, of Philadelphia in 1776 and by J. Russell, in 1776, have been received at the Transylvania College library, Lexington, the gift of M. H. Wilson, of Pineville, a graduate of the Transylvania college of Liberal Arts in 1921 and of the Law College of the University of Kentucky in 1924.

TENNESSEE

FINE PROGRAM ARRANGED

MARYVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 10.—A celebration in commemoration of the Armistice, which those in charge predict will be long remembered, has been arranged for Tuesday, November 11. It is an event which citizens of Mount county are looking forward to, and which will bring hundreds from elsewhere in East Tennessee, including a large delegation from Jefferson City where Carson-Newman college is located, the Fighting Parsons of which institution are to battle the Highlanders.

L. M. U. DEFEATS EAST KENTUCKY NORMAL

CUMBERLAND GAP, Tenn., Nov. 10.—Lincoln Memorial University triumphed over the Eastern Kentucky Normal eleven on the football grid today. The final score reading 13 to 7. Both teams played at a disadvantage for the field was muddy and the rain fell steadily.

Securing the ball at the kick off the normalites ran the whole length of the field for a touchdown in the first two minutes of the game and kicked goal that was an eye-opener of the Lincoln Memorial University boys and they retaliated by a touchdown a few minutes later but failed to kick goal.

With the score standing seven to six the two teams squared up and down the field for the second and third quarters. At the last when it looked as if that would be the final score, Tex Turner of the Lincoln Memorial University received a punt and ran ninety yards for a touchdown. The game stood thirteen to seven when the whistle blew. Turner's broken field was the feature of the game.

Hondal, the man who can get out of anything, made a mistake by not being in this presidential race.

Methodist Men To Meet At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 10.—Forty-three hundred Methodist men from all parts of Ohio and Kentucky will fill Memorial Hall here November 23 to 25, at the sessions of the Cincinnati Area Methodist Men's Council, according to Bishop Theodore S. Henderson, of Cincinnati, resident bishop of the area.

The bishop in a letter, just sent to the pastors of the area is calling the ministers and laymen to the Council "to start a new Christian crusade."

No stronger array of talent has ever been brought together on any platform in the history of the church. The speakers are all of national, and in some cases, international reputation. Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania will speak on "The Supremacy of Law"; and Hon. Henry J. Allen, former Governor of Kansas, on "The Challenge to Leadership." Registrations are being made in advance by hundreds of churches throughout the area. The first 3,000 men to register will be admitted to the sessions. After this number is registered, later registrations will not be accepted.

HEALTH CRUSADE IS ORGANIZED

Parents Are Urged to Encourage Their Children to Perform the Tasks Prescribed.

The modern health crusade is being organized in the Middlesboro public schools in the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grades. This movement is sponsored by the national and the state tuberculosis societies.

Its purpose is to train the children to form right health habits through the performance of health chores, set forth in the chore folder that is given to each child. The parents are asked to cooperate with the school by urging the children to perform these acts.

These tasks are merely the rules of health pertaining to cleanliness, proper diet, fresh air, rest and exercise. It is hoped that this will help Middlesboro produce a healthier set of boys and girls.

Buffalo Preserve Is Now Overstocked

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Between 20 and 300 buffalo on the Montana national bison range west of here must be slain this fall, Frank Rose, the superintendent, announces.

A census last summer showed 700 buffalo, 500 elk, 28 mountain sheep and 100 deer on the range, and inspection of the grasses convinced the superintendent that the preserve was about 10 percent overstocked.

The sale of buffalo to parks and zoos is not great enough to bring the herd down to the required size and so a large number will be slaughtered and sold on the meat market. Each fall the herd is reduced in this manner, but this year a far greater number than ever before will be butchered.

The Montana buffalo herd is the third largest in the world. The range, containing 18,000 acres, is under the supervision of the United States Biological Survey.

So far Mr. Rose has obtained the services of but two cowboys to help him in segregating the animals to be slaughtered. Few riders are willing and able to do the work. The buffalo is a stubborn animal, and the chances are ten to one he will charge the rider who attempts to cut him out of the rest of the herd.

Searchers Uncover Old Indian Village

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 10.—Remains of an Indian village estimated to be 2,000 years old have been found near The Dalles, Ore., buried under more than 12 feet of stratified deposits. It is reported by W. D. Strong, research fellow in the department of anthropology at the University of California, who, accompanied by W. E. Schenck, spent two months in the Columbia River valley. The expedition was carried on under the auspices of the department of anthropology.

The village was mentioned by Lewis and Clark, the famous pioneers, in 1804. At one time the place was a trading point of the Wishram Indians, whose descendants still live at a site not far distant.

Short Agricultural Courses Are Urged

(The Associated Press.)

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 10.—One or two short-unit courses in agriculture was urged upon all agricultural teachers of the state today by G. Ivan Barnes, state supervisor, for incorporation in the curriculum. He said:

"The short-unit courses taught for adults last year were indeed commendable. It is hoped that greater success will obtain this year."

"No other activity in your community inspires as much confidence, commands so much respect, or establishes a more wholesome relationship than a successful short-unit course. It is your opportunity as well as your responsibility."

"I am therefore urging that you carefully plan for at least one or two appropriate short-unit courses for this winter."

City Plans Tours For Educators

(The Associated Press.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 10.—Inspection tours in several Indiana cities are included in the program being arranged for the eighteenth annual convention of the National Society for Vocational Education, which will be held here December 11-13.

Those who come from the east will visit plants in northern and eastern Indiana, and those from the south will visit plants in the southern part of the state, coming onto Hoosier soil from Louisville, and Cincinnati.

L. H. Deauls, state director of vocational education in Pennsylvania, is president, F. G. Nichols, Cambridge, Mass., secretary, and C. Oswald, New York publisher, treasurer.

Special Call Sent To Tobacco Growers

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 10.—(AP)—A special call has been sent from the Burley Tobacco cut-out headquarters to all of the burley-producing counties in Kentucky to meet here this Saturday. This meeting has been called in order that the Kentucky growers may hear the reports the other burley producing states have to make in regard to the burley cut out movement. James C. Stone, president and general manager of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association, said today:

A state meeting has been called in Indiana for Wednesday at Aurora, where delegates will be elected to attend the mass meeting here Saturday, he said. The meeting in Ohio has been called for tomorrow at Georgetown, for the same purpose, he added. Four delegates have been appointed from the Central Tennessee district and will come here while one delegate has been appointed from Missouri, he said.

Grand Opera Heard Over the Telephone

MUNICH, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Put nickel in the slot and hear tonight's opera performance in the Stadt opera house, is the latest Munich slogan. The telephone administration has just opened four opera-hearing halls in Munich suburbs, where long rows of pay telephones wait for customers eager to hear grand opera for 50 pfennigs.

Telephone subscribers may use their phones at home against a monthly fee for the opera service.

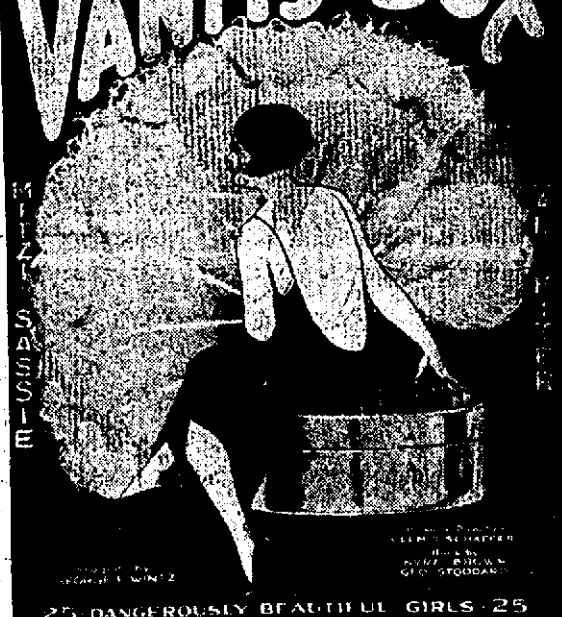

When the subscriber, who listens to grand opera is wanted by another subscriber, the exchange interrupts the entertainment for the duration of the conversation. The transmission is entirely over wires and has nothing to do with radio. Subscribers, however, are allowed to hook up amplifier units and loudtalkers as used in the radio field.

Dining Room Furniture
THAT BIDS A MERRY FEAST
It takes more than good food to make the feast merry. Of course, first of all, the hostess has to be in a merry state of mind. And this state of mind is only possible when she knows that her dining room furniture is correct in style and contains all those pieces which aid in serving the meal.
The tilt-top Table and Tea Cart are not part of the set but supplement it so gracefully that they seem to belong with it.
